About the war against the Gauls

Julius wrote about the war against the Gauls.

In Gaul, three peoples live, below which the Belgians. Win is important for everybody.

Only as the Belgian by chance not strongest is, then find we that before unimportant.

Before we fight go, there is first a conversation necessary. For although we know many things, there are really yet affairs that we do not know.

He brought its military troops over the Rhine and divided the Large Realm of the Gauls, that in fact mutually already divided was.

What a brilliant man! What I am then really a poor pauper. For because I am only a Belgian, was the decision taken all of too in front: War, war!
